ECHO

CLINTON CHRISTIAN DAY SCHOOL
GOSHEN, INDIANA

Dedication

P.T.A. Officers NOT SHOWN: Viola Christner

We are very thankful to the Parent Teachers Association for their steadfast consecration to the school. It has been revealed time after time as they labored hard for our benefit. They sponsored the chicken suppers and bake sales, to raise the needed funds. Our deep appreciation for the new desks, the purchase of which they took into their own hands, can hardly be expressed in words. The constant toiling of the P.T.A. is certainly worthy of our highest recognition.

As an expression of gratitude for the P.T.A.'s many contributions to the school, we dedicate to them the "64 ECHO".

Principal's Message

You are a part of that generation of whom it has been well said, "It is the first generation that it is impossible to teach what it will need to know in life." Changes are so rapidly occurring that often the content of vocational training and of the practical arts is obsolete before you can utilize it.

This means that, more than ever before, you need an acquaintance with the fundamental and unchanging truths of life. You need to be versed in the underlying principles of the sciences, both natural and social. Your need for acquaintance with the foundational principles and axioms in a broad spectrum of knowledge is becoming a basic necessity. Only with this acquaintance will you be prepared for the lifetime of learning that rapid change is dictating today. Only with this foundation can you build a worthwhile contribution in the field God chooses for you as you discover your gifts and live in a world quite different than even the one you know today.

Your place as the light, the salt, the witnesses of Christ can be filled only as you are prepared to fill it during the decades of your lives,---decades that will almost reel with changes, specialization, urbanization, and automation. Never in the course of human history has it been more needful for youth to know the meaning of life as God has graciously revealed it to us.

As you leave this school to go on in the perennial necessity to learn, may you go with this firm conviction,---"that God is, and that He is a rewarder of them that diligently seek Him."

Galen Johns

To you we look
with upturned eyes
with ready minds
with trusting hearts:

counselors.

ADMINISTRATION

Board of Directors

John O. Miller, Chairman
Otis Mast, Secretary
Daniel Beachy, Treasurer
Perry Yoder
Henry Kauffman

The Clinton Christian Day School Board of Directors consists of five members; one each from the Mennonite, Conservative, and Amish, plus two members at large. The school board enjoys the privilege of working in connection with the school in making weighty decisions for the benefit of the school. An organization of this type needs certain persons to be responsible for the operation of the school. With the help of the faculty and each patron, the program of the school can go forward in success. As problems arise in the school, the Board acts upon these problems with a great concern and uses the best knowledge that they can offer to promote the program of the school. As school terms end, there are frequently several teachers leaving the faculty. It is the Board's responsibility to replace these vacancies. It is a challenge to find consecrated teachers to fill these places. Through the years of C.C.D.S. the Lord has blessed and provided the school with faculty and financial support. We know that with earnest efforts made, many fine young men and women have come out of this school and are in Christian service.

"VIEWPOINTS"

"I know the Christian atmosphere has greatly influenced me to daily walk with the Lord. I believe if this atmosphere would be meaningful to all the students we would have a better school. I believe all children should take a Christian attitude in everything they do."

Marie Hochstetler

"I feel this school has really helped me in 'preparing for the life which is and that which is to come'. It has been a real asset to my life."

Joseph Hochstetler

"I will appreciate Clinton Christian Day School all my life. I am sure I will never regret these ten years I spent here. It is here I gained knowledge and learned to understand much about God. I will always cherish Speech class where we had many discussions that probed into the deep things of life."

Frieda Mae Bontrager

"This school has meant much to me through the years I attended here. I think we students should be thankful we have the opportunity to attend this school. Money is worth far less than the blessings received here. I thank God for the privilege to attend here."

Joe Shetler

"I greatly appreciate the years I have spent at Clinton Christian Day School. Fellowshiping with other young Christians is a wonderful privilege. Our chapel period has helped me discover various ways of worship."

Marvin Borntrager

"Words cannot express my deep appreciation for Clinton Christian Day School. I have had many helpful experiences here. I am thankful for Christian parents who have sacrificed much to give me a Christian education."

Shirley Brenneman

"To me Clinton Christian Day School is a source of learning. We learn through seeing relationships and through experiences. We find both of these here. We can see the relationship between our studies and God's plan for our lives. This makes us realize the importance of studies in fulfilling God's plan for us. We also learn through actually trying, sometimes failing, but always learning from these experiences."

Lois Johns

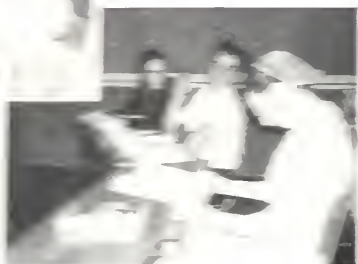

"I believe the Christian teachers are the most important asset to the school. Their dedication and devotion challenge us to live happy and useful lives, for the cause of God's divine kingdom. They help us understand life as it is. As a result we establish our own definite 'Philosophy of Life'."

A new student council is elected each year. It is composed of five members plus Brother Galen Johns, who serves as the advisor. Each class (7-10) elects one student to represent their grade in the student council. The fifth member is then chosen, by the faculty, from the four upper grades. A chairman and secretary are also appointed.

The student council is responsible for the planning the annual clean-up day. It also appoints members of the "Echo" and "Mirror" staffs, and the sports committees.
